THE FIGHT OVER THE PLACE. The place for holding the Convention

Rose argued to show that Sacramento was the only place in the State where the Democrats should hold their Convention, as it is the center of the State. If Los Angeles was selected he predicted that votes would be lost, and that the Convention would be made up of a few delegates, who would each hold a handful of proxies. He

Ex-Senator Cox also advocated the claims He was followed by Clay Webster Taylor, of Shasta. He believed that the Capital of the State should be selected, as it would be hard work to secure delegates who could easily pay the expense of a trip to Los Angeles was selected the the Democrats would have a Convention of proxies, instead of

As for the expense, the railroads have agreed to make a single trip ticket take delegates there and back, and no doubt special trains would be run from this city which will George T. Marve favored Los Angeles has been neglected for a long time, and this was the proper occasion for demonstrating that the north was aware of its existence. The difference in the expense could be easily got together in Los Angeles. SACRAMENTO GETS LEFT.

The roll was finally called, and Los Angeles won, the vote being as follows: Los Angeles 33, Sacramento 17.

It was then decided to fix the representa ion at the Convention at one delegate for each county, and one for each 200 votes cast for Congressman. The apportionment will, therefore, be as follows:

The rabbi, previous to the eginning of the morning sermon announced the munificent gift of the wealthy Jewess in complimentary terms. After doing so, Mrs. Stanley arose and bowed grace-fully to the congregation in confirmation of the rabbi's statement.

Republican Minority Report on the Tariff Bill-Matters in (SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.) A REPUBLICAN DOCUMENT.

The Minority Report Against the Ways and Means Committee's Bill.

opyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 2d .- The minority report of the Committee on Ways and Means against the Mills tariff bill occupies almost twice the space of the majority report in favor of the bill. It was written by Major McKinley of Ohio, one of the minority members of the committee, and is now in the hands of the Public Printer. The report begins with a severe criticism on the manner in which the Mills bill was compiled. It states that the minority were never consulted till the bill was laid before the full committee in complete form, and then it was voted through by strict party lines, no opportunity being given the mi-nority to be heard. The manufacturers of the country were refused a hearing by a majority of the Commission, as were also the workingmen and mechanics, although they are most directly interested. A few manufacturers known to be in favor of just what the majority wanted, and a few who

The reductions and rebates in cus-toms dues will but have the effect of keepng up the present inflow of surplus.

THE DEMOCRATIC POLICY. The talk and no-work policy of the Democratic party in Congress is given a hard blow. The report states that during the time the Republicans have had control of Congress, from 1869 to 1883, they reduced the income over $200,000,000 a year. but though the Democrats have had con-trol often and during this period, they have never reduced the tariff a penny. They have been crying tariff reform vigorously and campaigning upon it for the last five years, when they have had a majority of the House of Representatives, and yet they have not passed a tariff bill

The Mills bill is declared to be a sectional slight. The cut it makes on sugar, rice and other Southern products are pointed out, while its inroads on farm and other products of the North and the West are cited in a very impressive way. the Bond-Purchase Bill. Copyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press WASHINGTON, April 2d .- The Senate appears to be in a hopeless muddle over the House bill which authorizes the Treasurer to purchase bonds for a disposal of the surplus in the Treasury. Amendments were introduced by Senators Stewart, Plumb, Beck and others, that brought up the ques-tion of future financial policy of the Government, and the situation of affairs has become so chaotic that Republican and Democratic caucuses have been held, and committees appointed by each to endeavor to reach some satisfactory solution of the Senator Stewart through a fire-brand into the Senatorial camp when he offered as an amendment to the bill his proposition to issue silver certificates on deposits of silver bullion. The Senators who have followed Sherman's guidance in financial legislation tried to induce Stewart to withdraw his amendment and allow the bill to pass in its original form or be re-committeed to the Finance Committee. This he refused.

This morning there was a caucus of Democratic Senators, who were in about as much of a panic as the Republicans, and Senator Beck, in the interest of harmony, agreed to withdraw all of his amendments if one that would be acceptable to the passed the House, should become a law, many national banks would surrender their

As soon as the Judge had taken his seat the ex-City Attorney arose and said that at the city election held on the 13th of March a gentleman had been elected to succeed him as City Attorney of the city of Sacra-mento. He had been educated to believe while he regretted to sever the ties which had been so pleasant during the past two years, he was prepared to bow compla-cently to the will of the people and venture no complaint of the public judgment as it had been expressed. He spoke feelingly of the pleasant relations that had existed between the officers of the Court and of the ties of friendship that had grown up among them. In complimentary terms he introduced his successor, Mr. Church, expressing the belief that the gentleman would prove an honest and able officer.

action in virtually assuming a protectorate over the Samoan Islands. He demands edress from this Government for what he terms the unfriendly attitude of American onsuls, past and present, at Apia, toward the German authorities on the Island.
In a letter addressed to Baron Ledtwitz cretary of the German Legation, November 18, 1887, Bismarck laid down the law, as he desired it expounded to Secretary Bayard, in no uncertain manner. He be gins his letter by saying that the reports from the representatives of the Empire at Apia show that for the past seven years

Efforts on the part of Germany, Bismarck says, to secure a lawful and orderly condition of affairs in Samoa, have without exception met with the opposition of the American Consular officers Bismarck gives the history of affairs on the Islands from the time that Dawson was appointed American Consul down to and ncluding the administration of Sewell, the American representative there, and says "In view of the friendly relations which have existed untroubled for more than a century between Germany and the United States, it is remarkable that on that remote realm of the Islands, where neither America nor Germany have any political interest to defend, we are exposed to the continued

The value of imports in Apia which have gone through the hands of American merchants amount, according to the statistics of the year 1887, to $92,000. The German imports amounted to $292,000 in that year. In exports the German merchants participated to the value of $250,000. and American merchants to the value of $31,000. Such a policy was not desired, the only object of this Government being to preserve the autonomy of one of the few remaining native Governments in the Pacific Ocean. The United States, Bayard says, promptly disapproved of the action of Consul Greenbaum when he declared an American protectorate over the sland in order to counteract the disintegrating effects not only of prior acts of the German Consul, Dr. Stubel, which had been

Bayard recites in his letter the history of reaty negotiations with the Samoan Govrnment by foreign Powers, and attributes rying the State, especially in view of the the past two years to be largely due to the ilure of the German Consular representatives to give support to the existing native Government. He next read a most remarkable affidavit of John Manion, who had been working on the ranch of Mrs. Stover, near Brighton, in which Manion they must bear. The tendency to centralizztion of power is always strong in a political party, and it is helped by popular qualities, and she was willing to take the inattention to party work. As the GREAT STUDY OF AMERICAN CHARACTER, tisans, it applies with equal force to Rewhom we daily meet, who exclaims: "When you reform political methods, then I will come to the front and take an active part." The illogical character of this excuse for inactivity is apparent. The man for the genuine article. has no right to criticise efforts to effect political reforms or forward party success who does not himself lend assistance to their forwarding and assume a due share of the responsibility. If all men acted upon the lines that our neighbor's excuse indicates he has laid down to determine his course, there would be nothing done politically by the people of all others who should do most. We repeat that the citizen is estopped from complaining of "the filthy pool" who makes no effort to cleanse it, and is content to merely look on while others labor with that end in view.

The inactive Republicans of California need to take these truths to heart. There is a great work before the party in the year 1888. It is not to be put off a day longer; it is essential to success in November that every man of the party manifest personal every man of the party manifest personal interest in the affairs of the party now, and thus each give encouragement to the other. Club formation as advised by the State Central Committee should begin at State Central Committee should be once, and be made more thorough than ever before. These clubs are to be permanent institutions. They are to be educating influences, and not means to the ends of personal ambition; they are to be enrolled in the National Republican League, already the strongest political organization ever attached to a party in this country; and finally, they are to be kept free from all local influences that would be likely to make them mere instruments in local politics. Here now is an inviting field for work by Republicans, where they can mee and counsel, and into which they can bring the proselyte. There should be no further

THE COUNTY CLERK REJECTS AS-SESSOR FROST'S WORK.

The Board of Supervisors Adopt Resolutions to Aid in Preventing Fraud at Elections.

The matter of re-registration was quite appermost yesterday in the public mind, and the movements at the Court-house attracted much attention. It has been known for several days past that there existed a difference of views between the County Clerk and the County Assessor as to the proper method of making registrations, and this culminated yesterday in County Clerk Hamilton's refusal to accept the registrations made by the Assessor and his

The law requires that the registrations made by the Assessor shall be turned over to the County Clerk at the close of each thirty days. Under this requirement, several hundred were yesterday handed into the County Clerk's office by Deputy Assessor McManus. Mr. Hamilton was the Police Court-room.

The meeting was called to order by the Mayor, who ordered the Clerk to read the woter. The latter he held to be absolutely necessary in order to prevent illegal registration, and to enable the Board of Supervisors to redistrict the county into new precincts of not exceeding 350 voters each, in accordance with the law passed at the last session of the Legislature. Deputy McManus came in with the registration lists while Mr. Hamilton was at the Board of Supervisors, and in his absence Deputy County Clerk Guth declined to receive them, and sent for Mr. Hamilton. Upon his arrival he found that the regis-tration submitted did not give the numbers of residences, and some of them were filled in with black lead pencil. He therefore eclined to accept them, and stated that he had some time ago informed both the County Assessor and some of his deputies that he should require exact residence of each voter registered to be given A short time afterwards Mr. Hamilton sent the following notice by letter to the Assessor, officially notifying him upon the PROTECTION OF THE BALLOT.

A. L. Frost, Esq., Assessor of Sacramento county—Dear Sir: The law makes me responsible for the proper making and publication of the Great Register which has recently been ordered by the Board of Supervisors. And as it is my duty, and for the interest of the entire people of the county, that the Great Register shall be as complete and as near absolutely correct as possible, when finished, it is necessary that the exact location of residence of each person registered be given.

exact location of residence of each person registered be given.

This is made necessary, as I informed you in our conversation some days since—first, because the Board of Supervisors are required, under the law passed at the last session of the Legislature, to divide the county into new election precinct, so that each precinct shall contain not to exceed 350 qualified voters; and second, that giving the exact residence will greatly deter those who might otherwise attempt to register hose who might otherwise attempt to register llegally, and aid in detecting and punishing illegally, and aid in detecting and punishing any who may do so.

There is not the least shadow of doubt that the law requires that in cities the number of residence of voters shall be given, and in addition to this, the ward or precinct. If there were any question, the legal presumption would be that the intent of the law is that construction of the section of the code which would best protect the inviolability of the ballots. That construction would be, that the number of residence, to ther with the ward in the city be given, and e exact locality within the townships, outside the city.

The recent glaring commission of frauds at The recent glaring commission of frauds at the ballot boxes in this city calls special attention to the necessity of greatest caution in making the present registration, in order to exclude every name from the Great Register not legally entitled to be borne upon it.

I have heretofore made these suggestions to yourself and some of your deputies, in order that no difficulty might arise when you came to turn in lists of those registered in your office and by the deputy assessors. Inasmuch, however, as for some reason your office has neglected, or refused, to give the number of residence or other particular data, showing exact locality of dwelling place of each voter, I cannot accept the lists of registrations sought to be turned over by your office to me this morning—or those which I deemed informal and incomplete.

The actual place of residence must be given of each person registered, and to prevent any tampering with the registration affidavits, they must be written with ink or indelible pencil, and not with ordinary lead pencil. Very respectfully, WM. B. HAMILTON, County Clerk, Sacramento county.

Sacramento, April 2, 1888.

The members of the Board of Supervisors discussed the matter of registration and ors discussed the matter of registration and approved the stand taken by Mr. Hamilton and said they would sustain him in the position, as they not only desired the Register to be as complete as possible, but also to make it as effective as was in their power for preventing illegal voting in fu-

ACTION OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS. In the afternoon Supervisor Bates introuced the following resolutions:

duced the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, The existing law makes it the duty of this Board to establish election precincts with such boundaries that not more than three hundred and fifty qualified electors of the county shall reside in any one precinct; and, whereas, it will be impossible to comply with this requirement of the law unless the exact locality of each elector's residence is entered on the Great Register. Therefore be it Resolved, First, that the County Clerk and County Assessor be and they are hereby directed to require from each applicant for registration and to enter on their respective rolls the street and number of the street at which he resides in the city of Sacramento, or the particular location of his residence in the county outside of the city. Second, that no bills for registration will be allowed, except when made in compliance with this resolution.

The roll was called and the resolutions

The roll was called and the resolutions This unanimous action on the part of the Board of Supervisors, together with the positive stand taken by the County Clerk, is pre-eminently right, and reflects credit upon those officials. It is a loval promise to the people of the county that no chicane shall be allowed to enter into the work of making the Great Register, and that so far laughter of the audience is the measure of making the Great Register, and that so far as possible no names shall be entered upon it that do not properly belong there. The people will warmly approve this action and appreciate it, for there is a strong public desire that all necessary steps be taken to prevent every specie of election frauds in this city and county.

After passing the above resolutions the Board of Supervisors also passed the necessary order in allowing an additional assistant in the County Clerk's office to aid in making up the Great Register. Mr. Hamilton thereupon appointed Fred A. Shepherd, Sr., to the place, and no more competent nor trustworthy selection could possibly have been made.

A Promising Outlook. The following notice was posted on the bulletin board at the City Prison yester-

Clunie Opera House. Hoyt's "farce comedy" entitled "A Hole in the Ground" was played last night ing part and many were compelled to stand during the entire evening. The stand during the entire evening. The The opera-house was packed in every seatplay, if it can be dignified by such a term, is the veriest trash. It has not even the merit of so much of a plot as distinguished that other absurdity, "A Rag Baby," and was not nearly so definite a plan of action as the "Tin Soldier." All of these aim to caricature men and women, to "take off" follies, to burlesque queer people, and by exaggeration of shams and eccentricitie and impositions upon the public, to read people corrective lessons. But the method employed does not justify the ends. The "Hole in the Ground" evokes laughter simply because of the great good nature of judgment. But no person present last night who values his or her own opinion venture to say that the duction was up to the level of satire or entitled to rank in any sense as a comedy. Why Mr. Hoyt should call it a "farce-comedy," or just precisely what that means, unless he intends to express the idea that it is something below the level of low comedy, we do not understand. It certainly is beneath the rank of a genuine tarce and is not to be mentioned in the same moment with a comedy of any description. It introduces Russia and 65 years of age. seven pretty women, two less comely and a lot of men, but two of whom can lay any claims justly to ability to give even fair character impersonation. One is a comedian and has the mimetic art largely—indeed, the performance of Mr. Richards evidences fine capabilities. The women dress nattily, dance a little, sing some, an are as slangy as the most morbid appetite for that sort of thing can wish. The pretense of a plot hinges upon the lonesomeness of a country railroad station, the insolence of a station agent and the boldsuccess, then Mr. Hoyt's trashy, plotless and altogether witless production achieved a splendid success. If the meaningless character of a play, its disconnected and methodless action, and its coarse absurdity are elements of its "taking" quality, then Hoyt's latest production is a marvelous success. It is true that people love to be amused, but such amusement as that of last night does not it were buried in a hole in the ground so deep that no theatrical management could resurrect it. There was a great deal of confusion and contention about seats in the parquet last night. Several parties claimed the same seats, and asserted there had been duplication of sales. Chief Usher Bateman and Treasurer Henry were asked what it meant, and stoutly denied that any sale of reserved seats had been duplicated, or any made, except legitimately and prior to the opening of the house. They both lay the blame upon those who take seats and refuse to yield them to holders of reserve coupons. "A Hole in the Ground" will be repeated to night. A saving element of the entertainment last night was the good orchestration between acts under the direction of S. J.

A sad Event. A large circle of friends will learn with deep sorrow of the death yesterday at Auburn of Miss Jennie B. Morton. Miss Morton was a lady of fine natural powers as an artist. Serious illness for several years had kept her great promise in this direction from its legitimate fulfillment, but the gems which occasional periods of rallying vitality enabled her to produce, are among the most valued of the art possessions of those who own them. For some time, and until her health failed, she was a student of the Sacramento School of Design under Professor Jackson. Since January last she has declined rapidly, and last Friday was taken to Auburn, though without hope. The deceased was a daughter of E. G. Morton of this city.

Who is Your Best Friend Your stomach, of course. Why? Be cause if it is out of order you are one of the most miserable creatures living. Give it a fair, honorable chance, and see if it is not the best friend you have in the end. Don't smoke in the morning. Don't drink in the morning. If you must smoke and elrink, wait until your stomach is through with breakfast. You can drink more and smoke more in the evening, and it will tell on you less. If your food ferments and does not digest right; if you are troubled with heartburn, dizziness of the head, coming up of the food after eating, biliousness, indigestion or any other trouble of the stomach, you had best use Green's Au ust Flower, as no person can use it with-ut immediate relief. At Mountain View, on Sunday, Tom Avery knocked out Jack Riordan in five

Or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific. Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it; is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been made temperate men who have taken Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge, and to-day believe they quit drinking of their own free will. IT NEVER FAILS. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. For sale by JOS.
